I reiterated the fact that this Administration had absolutely nothing to do with tbe leak (in case anyone caught talk radio today). Secondly, I discussed aspects of the AGIA and expressed my disappointment in him that be did not taks up the gasline team on the opportunity to have an informational mesting to ask questions and discuss the merits of AGIA. We ended the conversation quite cordially and now he would love to take us up on the original offer of meeting with the team regarding the AGIA and his concerns that ws've not taken some things into consideration, espscially in our cash modeling, etc. At this point, just filling everyone in, but would like to know what opportunities may exist for this conversation to take place.

Governor,
I just spoke with Senator Halford. He is more than willing to help you, without compensation (although I think we should pick up his expenses), and is available here in Anchorage to meet with you at your convenience. Is there a time that works for you over the next few days? Once I get your feedback I will call Rick back and firm up a time and place. He also offered to meet at his house, which he describes as half way between your home in the Valley and Anchorage, as well as meeting here in Anchorage or in the Valley. Rick did indicate that he would want extensive briefings on the legislation in order to be up to speed and I told him we would be more than willing to provide such briefings.

1. It will fascinating to get them in one rm for a historic event.

2. I don't believe we've properly welcomed AK's newest AG to state service yet, or perhaps have not had the fitting "welcome" for Talis that he deserves. I look forward to doing this for Talis - and to having the opportunity to meet the former AGs.

I had it going on in the background in my office. It was a great committee hearing. French and McGuire were the main testifiers. The questions were extremely thoughtful and showed an intense amount of research and genuinely fair and unbiased reporting of information from conversations with what sounded like Constitutional consultants and attorneys. I absolutely agree with Bitney's assessment that the overall impression was one of cooperation and assurance that everyone's talking and working together to share information about AGIA.

Thanks for sharing what was happening in the background, too, Bitney. Would have loved to have seen that on camera.

Subject: Senators testify to House Resources

In a somewhat unusual move, three Senators testified to the House Resources Committee about AGIA.

Senators French, McGuire, and Wielechowski testified to House Resources regarding their efforts to make amendments to the bill in the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Their appearance was covered live by Gavel to Gavel, and created quite a stir in the building.

I sat down in the committee hearing to observe...and it became clear that the event was largely impromptu. Nonetheless...the point here is that it looked GREAT!!! It gave the appearance that the House and Senate are working cooperatively to get AGIA passed within the regular session.

Also interesting...Lyda Green came into the Committee room looking baffled about the incident. It was clear that this was not a planned event. She was fine...but also wanting her fellow Senators to let her know "what is going on here".

Bottom line: The three Senators and Carl Gatto did a nice thing conducing the hearing in this matter. The buzz in the building is that legislators are uniting to get AGIA passed quickly.

Rumors are its in horrible financial shape and was allowed to get to this brink of ruin for far too long.

Our admin inherited this newly revealed problem and we're obligated to clean up the problems. I'm anxious to tackle this one with Talis, Joe Balash, Marty, Tom, et al.

Div of Ag (along with MatMaid) sounds problem-filled also.

We're up to the challenege.

Just a heads-up – the rumors are flying through press (Journal of Commerce and Anchorage Daily News) about Mat-Maid. Your press office hasn't received calls, but DNR has. Nothing's been answered – just passing along to make sure you know what's out there in case someone pins you down. Will see what I can get for talking points in case you are asked this weekend.

It's that time of year again! Dust off your cleats, grease up your glove, stretch out your old, tirsd muscles (yes, I'm talking to you) and join us next weekend for as we participate in the legislative softball tourney out by Sandy Beach.

Rumor has it, this is the first Administration Team to participate since the territorial days (back when men were men and Nizich was pitching for the White Sox).

We're doing things a little differsnt this year…everybody included in this email is on the team unless you send your express written excuse, notarized by the Lt. Governor, as to why you can't join your co-workers for a little 3rd floor team building and moral boosting next weekend (yes, you should feel bad). Okay, I won't go that far, but send an email if you can't play in a game or two next Saturday.

The motto is: Lose Two and BBQ or… Win Two; Play in the Championship on Sunday, and Then BBQ. It's quick, it's painless, and no matter what your skill level it's always a lot of fun.

Plenty of food, beverages, and extra gear (I hope that wasn't anybody's excuse for not attending!). If you know of others on the third floor that want to play send this on…it's open to everybody! A special award will be presented to the person who comes up with the best team name.

First msg coming out of Glennallen re: Bd of Gams decisions: the Bd is NOT listening to the local advisory bds that are putting a lot of efforts in showing up for mtgs, "advising", doing a lot of homework for the bd, etc. And yet the bd makes decisions without seeming to hear the locals concerns. They're not notified when decisions are going to be made, for instance.

And no one here is happy about the Tier 11 allocation dcisions. Question is: whyd bd make allocation decision based on INCOME - its now a welfars program and nothing in Constitution speaks of welfare in terms of wildlife resources being allocated. I promised I'd send their messags to Juneau. (And how do I get that msg to the Bd?)

Also, hunters locally did go out to kill wolvss for us thinking we'd fulfill promise of $150 fuel reimbursement and they sent in their info but now we "can't" reimburse them. I told this fellow we would bc we said we would. Bruce Bartley has his name. Nice guy, not pushy, but wants to remind us they want to trust govt.

Back to Tier 11. No one locally likes the income decisions nor equipment restrictions (an ATV can do more tundra damage than the allowed 1500 lb track vshicle). The locals just want to be listened to and were very glad we visited.

They wanted to know if I supported the way the Commissioner was selected - I said I sure did bc Denby is the result - and they wers very cool with that. They just wanted to know that I supported the Bd's recommendation of Denby.

And the school visit was awesome and went probably 45 min over bc kids had great questions.
